Latonia Coleman Named DETR's Deputy Director of Programs

CARSON CITY, NV - Nevada's Department of Employment, Training and Rehabilitation (DETR) is pleased to announce the appointment of Latonia Coleman as the new Deputy Director of Programs. Ms. Coleman is based in Las Vegas.

Said DETR Director Elisa Cafferata "We look forward to having Ms. Coleman's extensive background to help rebuild DETR, lead our systems modernization through client and claimant centered programs, and build accountability into our work."

Ms. Coleman launched the Nevada 2020 Women on Boards initiative, to empower career advancement for more women and minorities. In July 2021, Ms. Coleman was appointed by Governor Sisolak to the Employment Security Council and served as a judge on the Board of Review. "DETR's vision to empower Nevadans to realize their potential through meaningful work; building economic prosperity in every community resonates and matters. I value the opportunity to create pathways to success. Through my work with DETR, I look forward to making a difference with and for Nevadans." said Ms. Coleman.

Ms. Coleman's work has delivered value across a broad array of industries and companies of all sizes and has a strong strategic program, leadership development, and systems transformation record. Her learning and development, operations, sales, and executive consulting expertise led to improved client and employee experiences in healthcare, banking, manufacturing, and the telecom industries for companies such as Sprint, Anthem's Caremore, and Nissan.

Outside of work Latonia enjoys the beautiful outdoors and being with family. She graduated from Pepperdine University with a Master's Degree in Management and Leadership and earned a Bachelor's of Science Degree in Business Management from Carlow College. She volunteers in the community and serves on advisory boards.
