UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE CLAIMS PRESS RELEASE

For Immediate Release
March 21, 2020

Nevada Unemployment Insurance Claims Data

LAS VEGAS, NV - Each Thursday, the United States Department of Labor Employment & Training Administration (DETR) releases unemployment insurance weekly claims data for the prior week. Following this release, the Nevada Department of Employment, Training, and Rehabilitation may release claims data for the same period. Currently, data is available through March 14, 2020.

Claims are split into "initial claims," which correspond to recent layoffs, and "continued claims" which are the regular process of requesting benefits for a particular week. Claimants will typically have a single initial claim, followed by a period of weekly continued claims.

Weekly initial claims and continued claims filed since January 2020 to March 7, 2020 remained relatively steady, while claims in the week of March 14, 2020 showed an initial increase due to temporary closure of business functions beginning in some areas of the state.

For example, initial claims for the week ending January 4, 2020, are 2,264. Initial claims the week ending February 29, 2020, were 2,324, and the following week ending March 7, 2020, were 2,309. For the week of March 14, 2020 initial claims rose to 6,356, nearly triple the number of claims in the prior week, and the largest week-to-week increase dating back to at least 1987, when current records begin.

Continued claims move slightly behind initial claims, and do not yet show the same increase as initial claims. Data shows there were 20,801 continued claims filed for the filing week ending January 4, 2020. Continued claims for the week ending February 29, 2020, were 20,044. Continued claims for the filing week March 7, 2020, were 19,850, and continued claims for the week ending March 14, 2020 were 19,475.
